SAILING OF THE STEAMSHIP TENNESSEE.

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the steamship Tennessee, with a freight of provender and fillibusters, sailed from the pier at the foot of Eighth street, East River. The crowd which assembled on the per was not so numerous as usual, owing perhaps, to the great distance from the ordinary place of sailing and the bleak weather. The number of fillibusters on board the steamer did not seem to be great, but what they lacked in number they seemed determined to make up in enthusiasm. Most of them having imbibed pretty freely of "the last parting drope" with their friends, they appeared ready to do almost snything except to be quiet. They gave an indefinite number of cheers for almost every object of much and little interest in the city of New-York. Capt. O'Keefe, who was dressed in a blue uniform with brass buttons, stood at the rail and took the lead in every round of cheers, announcing the name of the individual or place about to receive the farewell honors of the departing patriots. In one instance, however, an archin bordering on the age of maturity, assumed the responsibility of Capt. of maturity, assumed the responsibility of Capt.

O'Keefe's enerous duty and gave out "Three "cheers for Centre Market," which were given with considerable gusto. This appeared to be the only market representative on board. A tall man now have in sight from behind the agitated crowd of passengers. He proved to be Mr. Thomas Hyer, and a ull seized the crowd on the pier, all believing that the case of Walker must be safe with such a powerful accession; but also! how little human hope is to be depended upon after all; Mr. Hyer jumped on the plank, and walked ashere. Then came forward Mr. Muligan, a gentleman whose antecedents speak volumes for his reputation. No somer had he made his appearance, however, than he slipped on the ity deck, and suddenly took a prostrate position, in which he seemed to sit with perfect case and comfort, refusing the aid of those who stood around, and who mg the aid of shore who stood around, and who seemed anxious to minister to his wants (a few props); he refused to be comforted, being fully resigned to lie in the bed he made for himself. Three cheers more were signalized by the appearance of Captain Rynders. Our reporter was just then listering to a very interesting conversabetween two females, who had succeeded in sending off in the steamer a bully whom they called "Pat."

two years, and getting tired of the game, had speceeded in exciting hie patriotic soul into an eathumann for the couse of General Walker, which had resulted in him cause of General Walker, which had resided in his demensing the means to go to Nicaragua; both these women seemed greatly relieved, and if what they said was true respecting "Pat" and others whom they recognized on board the steamer, then New-York is less dishonest to-day than she was yesterday. The Empire Club had a parting cheer, but very few joined in it. A greater crowd of shoulder hitters and blacklegs. has seldem appeared on any pier in New-York. Many old faces familiar to reporters at the time of the sailing of the Nicarsgua steamers on the North River side, were visible on this occasion.

Norwithstanding the furs made last Saturday evening at the Tabernacle, and the most strennous efforts of its promoters since, at the back room of the St. Charles, and elsewhere, there are but a very few who, in moments of sobriety, would consent to take any bailt to go to Nicaragua. The idea that New-York is large enough was more than once expressed by the side of the steamer yesterday; indeed, the sample of the passergers who crowded at the rail for the purpose of cheering were but thinly clad, and not a few of them regged; at best, in some cases under obligation to a multiplicity of patches for a second thickness to shield them from the weather. Flattered by a prospect of bettering their condition, they had ventured to godoubtless reasoning that to them any change would be for the better. The accession to Walker's ranks which will be m by the recruits going out by the Tennessee will not clieve his embarrassments much.

The following statement and correspondence will explain in part the cause of the small number of pas-

At about 10 o'clock yesterday marning Mr. Charles Mergan, Agent of the Transit Company, accompanied by Gen. Wm. L. Cazeneau, formerly United States Agent at St. Demingo, and Gen. Ward B. Burnet of the New-York Volunteers, entered the United States District-Attorney's office to ascertain what steps, if any, the United States authorities intended to take with reference to the steamer Tencessee, which was to sail for Nicaragna at 2 p. m. Thereupon a conversa-tion ensued between these gentiemen and District-Attorney McKeen, in which the latter stated that the Government would not interfere unless the neutrality laws were violated. Mr. Morgan said that a number of peaceable emigrants were going on board the Tennessee, and Mr. McKeen rejoined that his business was to suppress military expeditions alone. The vis-

At 2½ p. m. Mr. Morgan came again into the office, and informed the District-Attorney that the Transit Cempany had declined to take the emigrants of whom he spoke; that he had made arrangements to prevent any person from going on board unprovided with a ticket, bad so notified the parties interested, and had sent a police force to execute his orders. Mr. Morgan expressed his extreme unwillingness to engage in any enterprise of an unlawful nature.

St. Nicholas Hotel.

New York Dec. 24, 1856.

Sir: In consequence of the known hostility of the United States Government to the progress of American in crests in Nicaragna. the Transit Company has stopped the tickets of some four hundred emigrants whom the Agents had engaged to proceed to-day in the steamer Tennessee to Nicaragna to settle there under a per'ectly lawful, and, on the part of the State of Nicaragna, very liberal contract of colonization. I forward you a statement of the contract and am propared to prove that no agent of mine has departed from its conditions.

I regret hat such a necessity should exist under what is reputed to be a strictly Constitutional Asministration; but the losses and delays to which these emigrants have been subjected by threats of the Government interfering with what I have hitherto deemed the sacred and inalicanable right of an American citizen to trade or travel when and where he will in the lawful presecution of his affairs, have compelled me to inquire of you, in your dicial capacity, whether there is any law, and, if so, where it may be found for refereace, ordering the arrest of vessels or emigrants leaving this port under the within contract. If it is lawful and constitutional thus to interfere with the teade and travel of American citizens, I would respectfully inquire in what form of complaint, or under what amount of asspission, and in whose private judgment the arrests can be made, as it is of the hit, hest importance to hundreds of poor but industrious heads of families to know what they can do to avoid ruinous arrests and imprisonments, without envirely sacrificing their hopes of onlying the gift of a fine form under the generous colonization system of Nicaragna.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully.

Your obscilent see vant.

WM. L. CAZENEAU.

The following is a copy of the contract referred to in the above letter:

U. S. District Attorney's Office, Dec. 24, 1856.

Sin: The document referred to in your nive of the date purports to be signed "F. Verter, minister ploni potentiary." No such minister has been received by the President of the United States. The right of such recognition belongs solely to the President. The downerst has no official authority, in my judgment, and cought not to affect my course. You ask if there is any law to prevent emigrants from departing from this port? I state that the Government of the United States has not pretended and does not pretend to instruce with the movements of parties leaving the United States, except where they contravens the laws of the United States. But if under the need of emigrants is should be made to appear by proper evidence that they are in fact a military expesition, or parties callsted er retained with an intent to entiat cleawhere, in violation of the neutrality laws of the United States, it would be my duty to act.

I avail myself of this occasion to say that on the suppose d'American interests in Nicaragus, they are dotternined not by private individuals but by the Government of the Union (!). The duty of executing the new of Congress in relation to the neutrality of this country belongs to the executive branch of the Government, of the Union (!).
